Tall Whites Engage

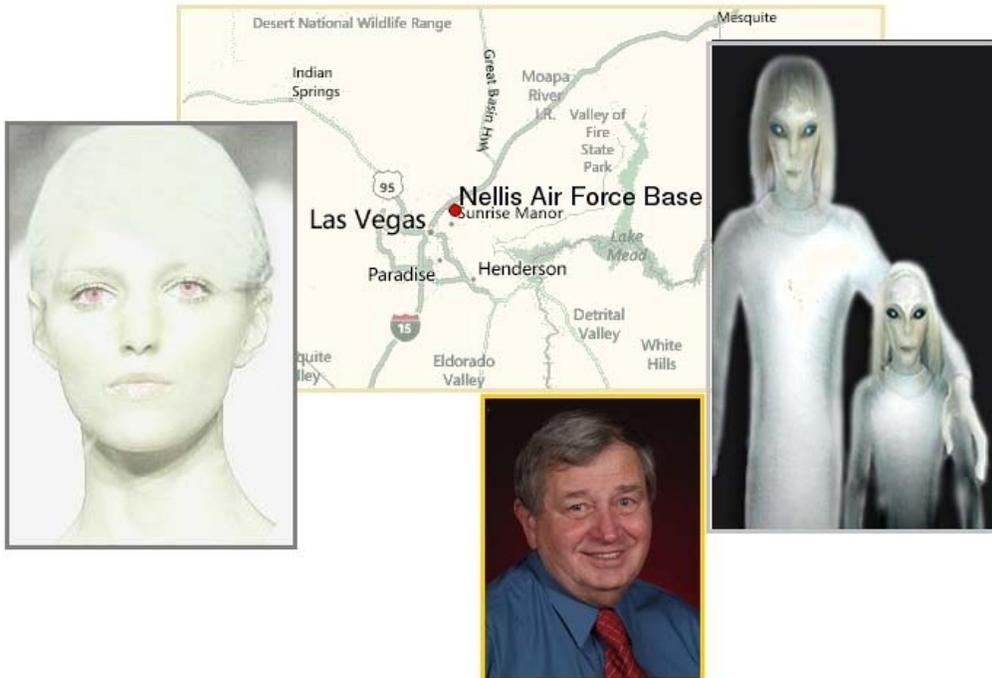

Recently Forbes published a story about Tall White aliens in the US, asserting that these aliens controlled the US government, in particular Obama. This story had been printed in the Iranian press, but was traced back to Sorcha Faal as the source. Sorcha of course being a disinformation specialist, claiming to be Russian but in fact acting as an arm of the CIA. Their specialty is mixing a bit of truth in with each story, to snag the readership, and then wending off into falsehoods.

Forbes Magazine: Iran Says 'Tall, White' Space Aliens Control America
January 15, 2014

<http://www.forbes.com/sites/michaelpeck/2014/01/13/iran-says-tall-white-space-aliens>

Documents leaked by NSA whistleblower Edward Snowden conclusively prove that the United States has been ruled by a race of tall, white space aliens who also assisted the rise of Nazi Germany in the 1930s. Fars apparently got the story from a hard-core conspiracy site called whatdoesitmean.com. Any good conspiracy theory needs a patina of truth, a bit of intellectual cover to camouflage the craziness. In this case, the whatdoesitmean.com/Fars story cites Paul Hellyer, the 1960s Canadian defense minister who is now a fervent UFO activist.

Stories about the Tall White aliens have emerged almost single-handedly from Charles Hall, an enlisted man assigned to a military weather station in the high Nevada desert. Former Canadian Defense Minister Paul Hellyer reportedly interviewed Charles Hall for several hours, thus his inclusion of Tall Whites in his list of aliens living among us. Per the Zetas, Charles Hall is telling the truth about his experiences. Per the Zetas, the Tall Whites are exclusively Service-to-Self.

Tall Whites

December 5, 2011

<http://www.arealiensreal.net/tall-whites/>

Airman First Class Charles Hall claims to have observed and communicated with a species of extraterrestrials/aliens he named the 'tall whites' due to their appearance while serving at Nellis Airforce Base as a duty weather observer from 1965-67. The tall whites culture seemed almost military like: great significance and respect is given to social positions and hierarchies.

Breaking Alien Cover-up: People have a Right to Know, Canadian Defense Minister

June 6, 2013

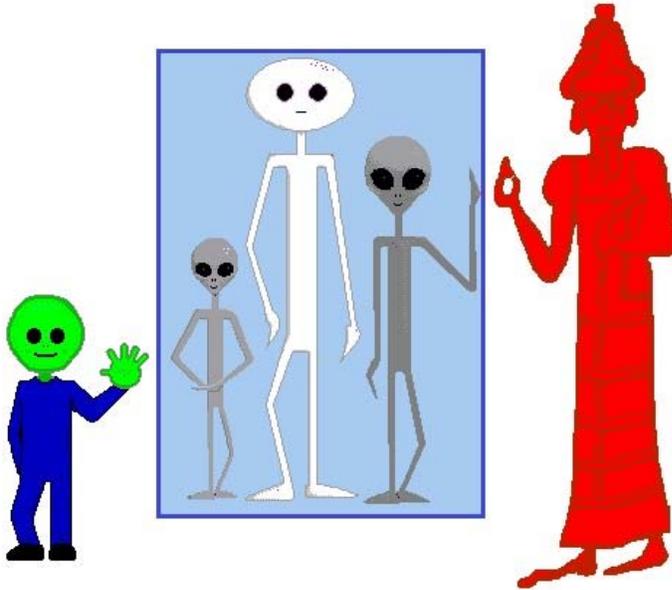

<http://www.examiner.com/article/breaking-alien-cover-up>

In May 2013, Canada's former minister of National Defence Paul Hellyer testified at the Citizen Hearing on Disclosure in Washington DC. Hellyer had a three hour talk with former airman Charles Hall, and listened to this fascinating story of how Hall worked with them in 1967 at the gunnery range at Indian Springs Nevada.

ZetaTalk Statement 1/26/2014: The Tall Whites visiting Earth are an exclusively Service-to-Self group. Their signature has been to attempt to mingle with mankind, and thus to have more direct influence over politicians and generals. Rigid, hierarchical, and cruel the Tall Whites terrified the humans they came in contact with, as they would frequently issue death threats for such minor infractions as offering a hand to one of their women laboring up some stairs, or touching one of their children. Their home planet has less gravity than Earth, and frail and with thin bones, the Tall Whites shuffle and have a tendency to stumble and lose their balance. But reaching out to touch one of them is considered a breach of protocol in their rigid social structure, resulting in instant death on their planet. The Tall Whites practiced their interaction with human on the soldiers assigned to duty nearby, and the tales told by Charles Hall of his encounters are true.

The Zetas have addressed many different alien types, hominoids similar to the human form. In the Worlds section of ZetaTalk, they addressed hominoids from Orion, the Nordics, the Pleiadeans, the Sirians, the Men in Black, the Anunnaki as well as other hominoids such as the little Green Men, the Praying Mantis, Cat People, and of course the Zeta Grays.

Why were the Tall Whites excluded? The Zetas have been asked about the Tall Whites but seem to have skirted the issue. For instance, during a live Q&A chat on May 23, 2009 a question asked about the Tall Whites and the Anunnaki only elicited an answer from the Zetas on the Anunnaki. The question was "I have come to the conclusion that the tall white greys sometimes witnessed by contactees as the ones in control are actually Anunnaki. Would the Zetas care to comment on this? Can they confirm or deny this?" What happened to the Tall Whites portion of the question? Per the Zetas, since the Tall Whites are exclusively Service-to-Self, to answer the question would have required the Zetas go into an engagement with the Tall Whites, per the Rules of Engagement that exists between alien groups of differing spiritual orientation. Unless important, they save their energies for other tasks. But disinformation published in Forbes is apparently considered sufficiently important.

ZetaTalk Statement 1/26/2014: We have not addressed what is termed the Tall Whites alien group, though have been asked, because to respond to these questions would have required, by the Rules of Engagement, that we engage. What we are telling you is that the Tall Whites are of the Service-to-Self orientation, and as such to engage them with ourselves, the Service-to-Other Zetas, would have required an engagement agreement. Since the Tall Whites have arranged to have themselves in the press, via a Sorcha Faal disinformation campaign, we have engaged to counter their disinformation.

Do they influence human society, or have they infiltrated the US government or military as the Sorcha Faal disinformation asserts? As with the Service-to-Self in general, they lied, and where they offered alien technology the Council of Worlds does not allow this. Space ships or devices provided by the Service-to-Self to the US military could never be flown by humans, nor reverse engineered, despite many claims by the CIA and DIA on this matter. Obama, who is solidly Service-to-Other, has had no dealings with the Tall Whites or other aliens still lingering on Earth, attempting to have an influence on the Earth's Transformation.

Google Moon

Google Moon is now participating in the Awakening, having made the decision to allow high definition images to be taken of the Moon's surface. One of the things formerly lost in fuzzy zoom images is a clearly defined crashed space ship, now being featured in major media such as the Daily Mail. Spotted by a paranormal researcher, the images have gone viral.

Mysterious Triangular 'Spaceship' Spotted on the Moon

January 18, 2014

<http://metro.co.uk/2014/01/18/mysterious-triangular-spaceship>

A series of controversial images from Google maps show a mysterious object on the moon's surface.

The two-sided object on the lunar surface was discovered by paranormal researcher WowForReel who posted a video of the finding online.

Bizarre Wedge-Shaped 'Craft' Appears on the Lunar Surface

January 18, 2014

<http://www.dailymail.co.uk/sciencetech/article-2541410/What-mystery>

It can be found on the Google Moon viewer at coordinates 22042'38,46N and 142034'44,52E

From the start of the ZetaTalk saga in 1995, the Zetas have been asked about clutter on the Moon. Per the Zetas, the Apollo missions were ended because the CIA could not keep astonished astronauts from muttering off script about the artifacts on the Moon, though NASA eventually allowed an Annunaki artifact to be displayed. The Annunaki used the Moon as a communication outpost. Per the Zetas, the Moon was also used in the past to house genetic engineering labs, which showed up clearly in the China orbiter images, as detailed in Issue 305 of this newsletter. What is the wedge on the Moon, most recently discovered? Per the Zetas, it's a crashed ship.

ZetaTalk Explanation 1/26/2014: Hidden in the details, requiring a high definition image not previously provided by Google Moon, lies an intriguing wedge clearly not a natural object. In perfect geometry, 7 raised dots are laid out along the leading two sides of this wedge. The wedge appears to have plowed into the surface of the Moon, pushing the soil up in front of the wedge and leaving a raised ridge behind the wedge as well, as though there had been an accident. This is precisely what occurred, in the past, when the Moon was home to a number of alien visitors.

We have mentioned that the Service-to-Self are clumsy during space flight, due to their reluctance to work closely with each other as a team. Among the Service-to-Self, it is everyone for himself, or a hierarchy where orders come from the top to those below, a firm pecking order. If the one at the top errors, there is no way to correct the error, as questioning a superior is an affront not allowed. If a ship is damaged beyond repair, it is abandoned. This accident occurred before the Council of Worlds established the Element of Doubt rule during mankind's Awakening. This is now being eased, the Awakening expedited.

Building with Trash

There has been a trend in the media of late to feature tiny homes, a point made in Issue 377 of this newsletter where tiny homes and houseboats as replacement housing after the Pole Shift were featured. The point was often made, in these media features, on how scrap or junk was used during construction – scrap lumber, scrap carpeting, or windows from a demolished home. Going a step further, the media is now also featuring tiny homes literally made from trash.

A Tiny House Adorned with Tomato Cans and Grocery Bags
 January 15, 2014

<http://homes.yahoo.com/blogs/spaces/a-tiny-house-built-with-used-tomato-cans>

Interior walls are papered over with Trader Joe's grocery bags and pinto bean and flour sacks (coated in linseed oil); the exterior makes use of a local pizzeria's tomato-sauce cans; and flowerboxes are made from discarded stove hoods turned upside down and poked with drainage holes.

'Garbage Warrior' Turns Trash Into Green-Built Houses

<http://life.gaiam.com/article/garbage-warrior-turns-trash-green-built-houses>

Would you live in a house made of empty beer cans, old tires and discarded soda bottles? Garbage like this is what renegade architect Michael Reynolds transforms into "earthships". There are mountains of tires around the world, and no one knows what to do with them. Go to the garbage dumps and harvest the mountain of appliances, refrigerators, washing machines and dryers. Take the baked-n enamel covers and use the panels as scaled roofing to help capture the water. We are constantly finding new materials that are thrown away that can be built into houses.

Trash Treasure: Rome Villa is an Entirely Recycled Sanctuary
<http://dornob.com/trash-treasure-rome-villa-is-an-entirely-recycled>

The things we throw away are often still completely usable in some way – it just takes a bit of imagination to see their potential. Officina Roma is more or less a three-dimensional collage that one can actually step inside of. It is made of old bottles, used car doors, discarded furniture, trashed wood, recycled oil barrels and even partial car bodies.

Swimming Cities: Floating Trash or Modern Pirate Treasure?
<http://dornob.com/swimming-cities-floating-trash-or-modern-pirate>

Set against the backdrop of a contemporary city skyline, this ramshackle collection of recycled parts looks as much like a half-sunk pirate ship of floating debris as it does a functional floating hobo-style hodgepodge home.

Why is this important? The public will likely at least remember the issue being discussed and look at the pictures. In the future, constructing homes from debris and trash might be something survivors would be forced to do. Imagine the landscape after the hour of the Pole Shift, when hurricane force winds have swept the entire globe, tidal waves have assaulted the coastlines, all accompanied by magnitude 9 earthquakes worldwide. The quakes will knock structures over while the winds pick up the pieces and fling them. This is worse than the results of a hurricane or cyclone alone. This is worse than the aftermath of an earthquake alone. And the tidal waves which will rise up to 500-600 feet along coastlines will drag this trash first inland and then back out into the oceans, distributing the trash, which is worse than a tsunami alone. Shopping for supplies to rebuild housing will not be possible, with roads torn up and bridges down. Survivors will be rebuilding with the trash which will be all around them.

ZetaTalk Description 1/15/1996: At the shift, the surface of the Earth will move, in just under an hour, more than a quarter turn. Where massive earthquakes and tidal waves occur when this motion stops, hurricane force winds, world wide, occur during this shift. The whipping and confused winds might reach hurricane force during this hour and be unpredictable for several hours after the shift, but one should not assume a force of winds above what the world experiences today. Your hurricanes and typhoons represent what occurs when air masses attempt to move against each other, given their density and gravity attraction and inertia. These same factors are in place, are predominant, during the pole shift. Humans wishing to prepare for these violent winds should anticipate a force equal to their familiar hurricanes, not tornado force, although tornadoes will be spawned. Stay below the Earth's surface, lie low, and tie down everything you wish to find when it's over.

ZetaTalk Description 1/15/1995: The pole shift is therefore sudden, taking place in what seems to be minutes to humans involved in the drama, but which actually takes place during the better part of an hour. There are stages, between which the human spectators, in shock, are numb. At first there is a vibration of sorts, a jiggling, as the crust separates in various places from the core. Then there is a slide, where the crust is dragged, over minutes, to a new location, along with the core. During the slide, tidal waves move over the Earth along the coast lines, as the water is not attached and can move independently. Plants survive as they are rooted and their seeds are everywhere, and animals including man survive because they travel with the moving plates of the Earth and experience no more severe a shock when the plates stop moving than they would during a Richter 9 earthquake. Where mountain building occurs when the plates stop moving, the stoppage is not simply a sudden jolt, like a car hitting a brick wall. All is in motion, and the stoppage is more like a car hitting a barrier of sand filled plastic barrels - a series of small jolts, occurring in quick succession.

ZetaTalk Description 6/15/2001: This is a flood tide, with the lip of the water being its highest point, rising like a silent tide endlessly on the rise, the wave rolling inland without a crashing back and forth, just a steady progressive inundation. To those at the mercy of such a flood tide, their first thought is to climb above the tide. Soon they are standing on the highest point they can reach, and still the water, flowing inland steadily, rises. Afloat on a boat or flotsam, they will be dragged inland with the flow until a reverse slosh begins, the water flowing back into its bed but in the nature of water during a slosh, overshooting this other side so that both sides of the ocean experience this flood tide, alternately, for some days until the momentum diminishes. When the flood tide recedes, those afloat are in danger of being dragged far out to sea with the flow, as the water will rush to its bed unevenly, more rapidly where it can recede the fastest.
