

The ZetaTalk Newsletter

Issue 404, Sunday June 29, 2014

Weekly news and views from around the world and beyond.

New ZetaTalk      Earth Changes      Announcements      Signs of the Times
Alien Technology Envy

Mankind no doubt built airships due to bird envy, seeing the birds take flight, soar to heights, and gracefully glide for miles with a great view. So how has man reacted to seeing the ability of alien space ships to levitate without propulsion force, zoom off with great speed, change direction on a dime, and disappear into another dimension? Beyond science fiction, such as the Star Trek series where mankind has this technology, mankind has either reacted with awe or by bragging. Lately the bragging has gotten worse.

Engage Warp Drive! Nasa Reveals latest Designs for a Star Trek-Style Spacecraft
 June 11, 2014

<http://www.dailymail.co.uk/sciencetech/article-2655105/Engage-warp-drive-Nasa>

Dr Harold White is famous for suggesting that faster than light (FTL) travel is possible. Dr White said it is possible to 'bend' space-time, and cover large distances almost instantly. And, in a series of new renders, Dr White reveals how a real spacecraft dubbed the IXS Enterprise could do the same thing.

Warp Drive

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Warp\_drive\_%28Star\_Trek%29

Star Trek: Enterprise describes the warp engine technology as a 'Gravimetric Field Displacement Manifold', and describes the device as being powered by an matter/anti-matter reaction which powers the two separate nacelles (one on each side of the ship) to create a displacement field.

Man at present is operating on the presumption that nothing can go faster than the speed of light, and any other presumption is theory. Thus there was shocked denial when CERN registered a particle moving faster than the speed of light. Per the Zetas, when Planet X zoomed toward the Sun prior to 2003, it was traveling close to the speed of light. And their manipulations to do interstellar travel includes manipulating the attraction and repulsion of particle flows as well as density shifting. No big deal, per they. No big deal for the Zetas, that is.

ZetaTalk Explanation 7/15/1995: Most certainly we have interstellar ships, else how would we, as incarnated entities, arrive? The means of travel is not what humans assume, propulsion. As humans can only move by a snail's pace unless they are propelled, they assume that interstellar travel is by propulsion. It is not, it is by attraction, and a quick kiss it is. We have explained how we move from one density to another, by making a reservation in the density we wish to move to, and then simply making the move. Likewise, when making long distance travel, we make a similar reservation, and then simply move. We have spoken of the mutual attraction and repulsion of matter, which is, of course, what causes the planets and moons to go into orbit around each other and their suns. Imagine what would happen if the repulsion were eliminated, in a given interchange, and the attraction had no counterbalance? How fast is fast?

ZetaTalk Explanation 2001: During math discussions on sci.astro, it has been surmised that the speed of Planet X approaches the speed of light during its most rapid approach, and this astonishes those in the discussion. Why is it assumed that light is the fastest thing in the universe, re travel? Man thinks this because it is something he can measure. He is aware of such a small percentage of matter and energy about him that to say that he comprehends 1% of what the universe is composed of would be an overstatement. Our space travel, in 4th Density and even 3rd Density, is faster than light, and we do not melt.

So is mankind about to achieve warp speed travel? Hardly. Mankind's current lessons are to learn to care for one another, to achieve a Service-to-Other mindset, and thus, being infants barely out of the playpen, we are certainly not allowed such tools as warp speed travel. Nor is mankind allowed to understand how to teleport. Man, however arrogant their bragging and claims, has not and will not achieve teleporting. No big deal for the Zetas, however.

Beam Me Up, Scotty: Teleportation 'Could Become Reality'

May 29, 2014

<http://www.telegraph.co.uk/science/science-news/10863929/Beam-me-up-Scotty>

Star Trek-style "beaming up" of people through space could become a reality sometime in the far future. Prof Hanson's team showed for the first time that it was possible to teleport information encoded into sub-atomic particles between two points three metres apart with 100% reliability. Teleportation exploits the weird way "entangled" particles acquire a merged identity, with the state of one instantly influencing the other no matter how far apart they are. The research is published in the latest online edition of the journal Science. It is hoped this will answer Einstein's main objection to teleportation, the possibility that a signal passes between entangled particles at the speed of light.

How Teleportation can Fight Cancer and Phone Hacking

August 24, 2011

http://www.humansinvent.com/?\_escaped\_fragment\_=/2244/how-teleportation-can

Einstein came up with idea back in 1935, and it was first achieved by IBM scientist Charles Bennett in 1993. It's called quantum teleportation, and allows for the state of a sub-atomic particle to be transmitted to another. The pair have to be "entangled" – something achieved typically through "spontaneous parametric down-conversion", or firing a laser through a crystal, in layman's terms. Move these apart, then measure one, and you destroy it, but the other entangled particle takes on the same property, without any information passing through matter in between. Spooky, eh? The current record distance stands for anything to be sent, instantly and without passing through matter and space in between, is 16km, set by a group of Chinese scientists in 2010, but theoretically it could be limitless.

Contactees are regularly teleported into and out of ships, and I, Nancy can attest that this involves more than density shifting. It involves a shift in location! I disappear from my home and am instantly on a ship, or in a warehouse for a group meeting, and then later am returned to my home. This is explained by the Zetas in their description of the activities to counter election fraud in 2006 and 2008.

ZetaTalk Explanation 11/9/2006: On election night, there were thousands of Puppet Master agents ready to block the intended fraud. They had the advantage of being able to use our transport systems, which we offered to them for this occasion only. They were, after all, determined to counter the vote fraud that Rove and company had put into place, thus allowing the people's wishes to be heard, countering a fraud. Our transport system included teleporting the team members into locked rooms, and assisting them with their tasks if other humans were present by freezing those others temporarily, so no memory of the affair remained.

Teleporting involves density shifting, which sometimes occurs naturally in places such as the Bermuda Triangle due to particle flow bursts.

Bermuda Triangle

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Bermuda\_Triangle

The Bermuda Triangle, also known as the Devil's Triangle, is a loosely defined region in the western part of the North Atlantic Ocean, where a number of aircraft and ships are said to have disappeared under mysterious circumstances.

ZetaTalk Explanation 7/15/1995: The Bermuda Triangle does indeed have unusual qualities, as do other places here and there on Earth. Magnetic anomalies are reported, where compasses swing wildly, clocks stop, and concrete objects fade from sight. What's causing this? These places, fortunately few in number, are an outlet from the center of the Earth for a byproduct of the Earth's compression, a gravity byproduct so to speak. A vent, from where subatomic particles not known to man surge forth periodically, and woe be to the man or fish who finds itself in the way. Here and there around the face of the Earth are similar outlets for this byproduct of the Earth's compression, many of them well known due to the havoc shippers or travelers experience - an area off the coast of Japan, and in one of the Great Lakes, for example.

ZetaTalk Insight 8/15/1996: Density shifting occurs in nature, and on some worlds or under certain circumstances occurs frequently. Your world, Earth, experiences this only intermittently at breaks in the Earth's crust where byproducts of the compression in the Earth's core escape. These places on occasion find themselves in a flood of these byproducts, and temporary shifting occurs. Deliberate density shifting is an adaptation of what occurs naturally. Rather than a complicated affair, it is remarkably simple. The complexity lies not in effecting the shift, but in managing the perimeter.

Thus emboldened by what Mother Nature presented, and goaded into trying by Service-to-Self aliens who feel they can only benefit in a soul harvest if they increase man's cruelty to man, the Philadelphia Experiment was born. This was a US military experiment, done by what was essentially MJ12 at the time. As these aliens are not allowed to give mankind the knowledge on how to density shift, things went terribly wrong.

Information Sheet: Philadelphia Experiment
<http://www.history.navy.mil/faqs/faq21-2.htm>

*The genesis of the Philadelphia Experiment myth dates back to 1955 with the publication of The Case for UFO's by the late Morris K. Jessup. Some time after the publication of the book, Jessup received correspondence from a Carlos Miquel Allende, who gave his address as R.D. #1, Box 223, New Kensington, Pa. In his correspondence, Allende commented on Jessup's book and gave details of an alleged secret naval experiment conducted by the Navy in Philadelphia in 1943. During the experiment, according to Allende, a ship was rendered invisible and teleported to and from Norfolk in a few minutes, with some terrible after-effects for crew members.*

ZetaTalk Insight 7/15/1995: Essentially, the 3rd Density matter is temporarily confused as to its proper rate of vibration, and moves into the 4th Density state. This is akin to what we have done to contactees when they report having moved through walls. However, in the hands of humans, who received information on how to produce this effect from Service-to-Self aliens, this ability proved disastrous. The humans conducting this experiment were of such an orientation that they did not care about the servicemen being used, or what might become of them. Rather than hesitate, knowing they did not have all the parameters in place, they proceeded. The servicemen, who were encased in a metal box, were left partially in the 4th Density, along with portions of their container. They were, of course, all dead.

There are teleporting and density shifting dangers aplenty, to the extent that Service-to-Self aliens are not allowed by their masters to casually do so, as they do not work cooperatively with each other and thus mess up. The movie The Fly is a case in point.

The Fly

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/The\_Fly\_\(1986\_film\))

Seth takes Veronica back to the warehouse that serves him as both home and laboratory, and shows her a project that will change the world: a set of "Telepods" that allows instantaneous teleportation of an object from one pod to another. Seth takes Veronica back to the warehouse that serves him as both home and laboratory, and shows her a project that will change the world: a set of "Telepods" that allows instantaneous teleportation of an object from one pod to another. Although the Telepods can transport inanimate objects, they do not work properly on living things, as is demonstrated when a live baboon is turned inside-out during an experiment.

ZetaTalk Explanation 9/15/1995: What are the dangers? First and foremost there is a danger of not making a complete transition, of being partly left behind. This can happen when the coordinates are not set properly, a matter we attend to with the utmost care. These coordinates are essentially boundaries, but boundaries are defined as more than the periphery. Boundaries include chemical composition, molecular structure, and connectedness. The true stories about the Philadelphia Experiment and the fictional movie The Fly are not far from the horror that can happen when the necessary knowledge or proper care are not in place. We take care not to touch one another or our contactees during the shift. We take care to include all parts of the object to be moved within the boundaries.

Transformation Goals

Meanwhile, while certain members of the human race are chest thumping and making false braggadocio claims, they are missing the point entirely. The Earth is a schoolhouse for young souls to learn the Service-to-Other mindset, to learn how to apply the Golden Rule, and thus become mature enough, spiritually, to handle matters such as density shifting. Those in the Service-to-Self hoard for themselves, struggle for supremacy, and desert and abandon each other without a second thought. The Service-to-Other share, cooperate, and care for each other through illness and injury. So what is the mindset of those bragging that mankind is about to achieve warp speed and teleporting? Are they concerned about helping the least of those among mankind?

ZetaTalk Description 7/15/1995: There are many groups on Earth already who operate in the Service-to-Others orientation. They share their resources, address the problems of each as though it were a problem for the many, sacrifice their own comfort for the better comfort of the many, and do not impede the growth or awakening to knowledge of each other. In the Earth of the future, these qualities will seem to increase in people, and groups will find less and less need for artificial controls on their behavior, and more and more allowance for trust among each other.

ZetaTalk Comment 7/15/1995: Often times the Service-to-Others individual, in the minority on Earth, is the one who acts as a mainstay for others. They are seldom the one rewarded or applauded, and most often the one quietly plugging away, supporting others. Look around you, and you will find them, though you must often look behind the scenes.

ZetaTalk Insight 12/7/2001: Service-to-Other or Service-to-Self orientation cannot be determined strictly by action, by a rule of thumb, as it depends. As we have explained, a gruff person can be self-centered, or just angry because they see that harm will come to others unaware. A demanding person might be demanding for the self, although presenting the demands as for others, and this cannot be determined unless one looks to the result of the demand. Someone barking orders can be simply trying to be in control, or trying to organize the confused and disoriented. There is simply no way to describe every situation, as they all vary. Service-to-Other or Service-to-Self motives are best determined by the result of the action, as a test of motive, and what the individual is willing to do. One should look to the actions, the willingness of the individual to get down and dirty, to share decisions, to disburse goods into many hands, to trust others, etc. This is not an easy answer for those who are not mature souls, who can recognize instantly the orientation of another.

Planet X Visibility

The Zetas have predicted increased visibility of the Planet X complex, and dramatic evidence of this is at hand in Alberto's photos of late. The corpus of Planet X is usually hidden behind a dense dust cloud, so that it most often has appeared as a dim fuzz ball compared to the brilliant light emitting from the Moon Swirls. But lately, the corpus has begun showing its face. Note that at sunrise the Ecliptic slants from lower left to upper right, so Planet X appears almost at the 3 o'clock position. Then at sundown the Ecliptic changes its slant from upper left to lower right, so Planet X moves to the 6 o'clock position in the view from Earth.

Timeline Anxiety

Since the start of the ZetaTalk saga, the public has demanded and begged to know the date of the Pole Shift. The arguments are reasonable – with a known date families can prepare and be in a safe location in a timely manner, working their jobs and spending their pay checks on supplies, etc. But the rule has always been that mankind should not be told the date, and the reasons are equally as compelling. Those wanting to mass murder or control the populace, forcing them into slave labor, would likewise put the date to use for these agendas. The Zetas have only been allowed to give mankind a series of signs, a progression in the Earth changes, only detailing with timing precision the Last Weeks. Thus, looking at the stretch of time between the present and the Last Weeks, many get anxious. Every twist or turn of the wobble, every unusual earthquake, brings the cry “are we about to enter the Last Weeks”?

ZetaTalk Lecture 6/14/2014: The twists and turns that Planet X and the Earth take during a passage are not linear. These planets are dancing partners. The Earth has been in a daily wobble since 2004, and this involves a daily Polar Push against the Earth's magnetic N Pole with a Figure 8 rebound. Were that not complicated enough, in trying to align with both the Sun's magnetic field and the magnetic field of Planet X, the Earth will attempt various maneuvers, such as a lean into opposition or a temporary lean to the left. Planet X, for its part encounters both Venus and the Dark Twin in its path, and where these are pushed away they are both subject to different influences and thus return. This messy scenario will continue until the Last Weeks.

From the start of ZetaTalk we have been pressed to give a date, and if not a date, some indications of where we are in a timeline. We have laid out the Last Weeks, with great specificity, so a frequent demand from the public is to know if these have started. They have not. In fact, as we have repeatedly stated, the 7 of 10 has hardly completed, so how can the Last Weeks be commencing? We have stated that the 8 of 10, with its increased visibility of the Planet X complex and increased virility of the wobble, will be a long stage, not over quickly. We have stated that the 7 of 10 and 8 of 10 are overlapping, as the 7 of 10 was slowed to give Obama and his partners a chance to admit the presence of Nibiru.

We stated in the past that the Earth would be in the August position in her stalled orbit when the Pole Shift occurred, and the Earth has been there for some time. We stated in the past that the 270° turn of Planet X that must be completed would find Planet X pointing its N Pole at the Earth after it makes a 195° turn from whence it was nosing its N Pole into the S Pole of the Sun, and this 195° turn seems to have occurred. Planet X is to the right of the Earth, and photos show that the tail hosing from the N Pole of Planet X seem to be pointing directly at the Earth. Might the Last Weeks now be upon mankind if the 7 of 10 plate movements hurry to completion? Might there be additional guideposts to cling to, for assurance?

- Planet X, and the Earth, and Venus and the Dark Twin are bobbing and weaving about, like shadow boxers forever dancing but never engaging. As we have stated, Venus and the Dark Twin escape at some point prior to the Last Weeks, after some drama quite visible from Earth, so if this has not yet occurred, then the Last Weeks are not yet upon you.

- Despite any flip flopping the Earth might do, it is not a Severe Wobble, ala the Last Weeks, unless 200-300 foot high tidal waves are sloshing north and south upon the globe. High tides in compliance with the daily wobble are not these, nor are surges accompanying a storm these.

- Not only must the full 7 or 10 plate movements complete before the Last Weeks, we have also mentioned a new position for S America and Africa, as they will drift. This likewise has not occurred nor can it occur in a day. This is not a quick process! Until this has occurred, the Last Weeks are not about to commence.

Little children are notorious for asking their parents, constantly, during a road trip "are we there yet?" We are not your parents, nor is constantly asking for reassurance every time the Earth changes increase a good use of our or Nancy's time. A Transformation and the time of the Pole Shift are both great opportunities for spiritual growth. Rather than looking anxiously to have your hand held, you should be taking advantage of these opportunities!