Solar Eclipse Revelations

The Solar Eclipse on October 23, 2014 occurred as anticipated, the Moon and Earth where expected, unimpeded by the daily Earth wobble or tilted orbit of the Moon. This has been true of past eclipses, where to avoid undue panic the Council of Worlds decreed that the Moon should be pushed into proper position, and the Earth wobble stayed temporarily. Official sites as expected declared it all a success and completely uneventful.

Solar Eclipse of October 23, 2014

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Solar_eclipse_of_October_23_2014

A partial solar eclipse occurred on October 23, 2014. A solar eclipse occurs when the Moon passes between Earth and the Sun, thereby totally or partly obscuring the image of the Sun for a viewer on Earth.

But as has been the case in past eclipses, truth about the presence of Planet X in the vicinity emerged. Moon Swirls of Planet X crossed the Sun in the vicinity of prominent sunspots, as more than one dramatic video showed. A live thread on the GodlikeProduction site captured discussion on the enigma. Since it was seen from more than one cam, it was not balloons or birds or an airplane. In any case, it moved too slowly to be an airplane, and the ISS is not in pieces. It was moving in the wrong direction to be a satellite, nor do satellites lump together and circle each other. The ultimate conclusion was that it was a lumpy UFO. Huh?

UFO's Filmed During Partial Solar Eclipse, Satellites?

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=IVZfYIteduA>

They are going in the wrong direction to be satellites and you never see 2 together. Plus, they are moving around each other. ... They are going the wrong way to be a geosynchronous satellite. ... Looks to me like 2 clusters of several objects, my best guess is birds! Especially the way it looks like with the bottom cluster an object seems to pull away from the pack then conjoin back in creating an arrow or triangular shape?

Come Watch Today's Partial Solar Eclipse Live Right Here! *Spotted a UFO

<http://www.godlikeproductions.com/forum1/message2678354/pg6>

Not ISS. Even at low altitudes it wouldn't take a minute and a half. Plus that's not what it looks like. ... I saw the same dots from Louisiana. I was looking at it with a welder's hood. We couldn't figure out what they were. ... Starting at 40:26, you capture a plane, traveling in the same general direction as the UFO objects. The plane starting to be smaller, and much faster than these other objects. I suggest that this rules out satellites. ... I still maintain that these were NOT balloons tied together. The orbs seem to be interacting with each other and that they were "flying around each other." Also, at one point they form a perfect "V" going off to the right of the screen. If those were just balloons in the wind, the strings would have been all tangled together by then and there would be no way for them to be able to form a symmetrical "V" shape! Just sayin!

Per the Zetas, the answer is obvious but not one those in denial about the presence of Planet X would espouse. Their description of Moon Swirls exactly fits the October 23, 2014 enigma.

ZetaTalk Explanation 11/1/2014: Clearly not sunspots, as they are moving more rapidly than the highly visible and distinctive sunspots. These are also not airplanes or satellites caught by the cam, as the shape is wrong and changes during the passage. These are Moon Swirls in the tail of Planet X, which has been wafting about between the Earth and Sun for years, caught in all its drama by the SOHO cams and by amateur photographers such as Alberto. The Moons are attracted to each other, and cling to each other in the roiling swirl, which constantly changes as the Moons are constantly on the move!

ZetaTalk Description 2001: Why would such a moon pattern perpetuate itself? Does Planet X not come to a virtual stop at the mid-point between its two foci? Having established a swirl behind the planet, the moons have two factors preventing a return to the normal orbital pattern of moons around a planet. First, their swirl perpetuates itself. The speed is dictated not only by the normal rotation around a gravitational master that attractants in the vicinity would create, it is dictated by the need to move away from the other moons in the swirl. Second, the larger moons in the cluster are perpetually trying to reach a closer proximity to their planet, the point where the repulsion force between the moon and its planet creates a stalemate. Being the larger moons, they push smaller moons away from their path, but this pushing action, in space, has the effect of causing them both to move, thus not only increasing and perpetuating their swirling motion, but also pushing the larger moon away from the planet it seeks to come closer to.

Inactive Volcanoes Awaken

What do two awakening inactive volcanos along the Colombia/Ecuador border have to do with the S American roll? Both volcanos last erupted 160,000 years ago, per mankind's best guess. Both are at the bottom tip of the North Andes Platelet, a small platelet bordering Central America.

Colombia-Ecuador Border Earthquake Sparks Concern of Possible Imminent Volcano Eruption

October 21, 2014

<http://colombiareports.co/colombia-border-volcano-can-erupt-couple-days/>

Colombia-Ecuador border earthquake sparks concern of possible imminent volcano eruption. October 21, 2014. Colombia's Geological Service have changed the alert level of two volcanoes from yellow to orange. The two volcanoes are Cerro Negro and Chiles, both active on Colombia's southern border with Ecuador. The orange alert level is defined by the Geological Service as "probable eruption in term of days to weeks." Neither one of the volcanoes have erupted in the past 160,000 years.t

Thousands Evacuated Near Colombia Volcanoes

October 23, 20014

<http://colombiareports.co/12000-people-evacuated-fear-volcanic-eruption-narino/>

Authorities in southwest Colombia ordered the evacuation of around 12,000 people living near the Chiles and Cerro Negro volcanoes on the border with Ecuador, amid fears that recent volcanic activity may result in an eruption.

The general guide from the Zetas is that all volcanos active within the past 10,000 years should be assumed to awaken during this forthcoming Pole Shift. They have also stated that this forthcoming Pole Shift will be the most severe in the past 50,000 years, over more than a dozen passages of Planet X.

ZetaTalk Prediction 10/16/2002: We have stated that all volcanoes active within the last 10,000 years can be considered candidates to blow, or ooze during the shift.

ZetaTalk Statement 6/15/1996: Human written and verbal history will not serve man well in preparation for the forthcoming pole shift, as a shift as devastating as this one will be has not occurred even within the past 50,000 years.

But neither of those statements compute to 160,000 years. But the S American roll is well in process, with quakes all up and down the Andes and with Central America battered. The two regions of the world most covered by quakes lately are the lifting edge of the Indo-Australian Plate, which the Zetas have referred to as the brake holding back plate movements worldwide, and the plate clashing involved in the S American roll.

Explosions Generate Lava Flows at Ecuador's Tungurahua Volcano
 August 30, 2014

<http://www.volcanodiscovery.com/tungurahua/news/47395/Tungurahua-volcano-Ecuador>

The eruptions took place between 18:23 and 19:00 local time, and are the first occurrences of pyroclastic flows since the start of the new eruptive phase that started on 27 July.

But why would inactive volcanos, asleep lo these past 160,000 years, awaken? Why now? The Zetas explain.

ZetaTalk Explanation 11/1/2014: We have stated that the forthcoming Pole Shift will be devastating, the level of devastation not seen for the past 50,000 years, not in over a dozen passages. The anticipated devastation is one reason the Council of Worlds has scheduled the Earth's Transformation into a world for those in the Service-to-Other, as the death rate will sculpt the Earth's population, created an anticipated death rate of 90% worldwide. This of course speeds the Transformation, at the hand of nature. Why is this passage different?

Each passage differs as when Planet X does not encounter planets in its path, it can zip through the solar system quickly. This time around, the Earth and her sisters – Venus and the Dark Twin – arrived promptly to slow that process. The Earth is now trapped in front of Planet X, and all of this creating a violent daily wobble for the Earth and planetary battering. Every Pole Shift moves the crust to some degree, and during these moves the plates are positioned for the next passage. At present, the ongoing S American roll will progress further than in the past, due to the Indo-Australian Plate able to tilt and sink India further than in the past.

What does this mean for volcanoes? We have stated, as a general guide, that all volcanoes active within the past 10,000 years are likely to erupt or ooze. Many inactive volcanoes have already become active since Planet X arrived in the inner solar system in 2003. What is different this time that inactive volcanoes asleep for 160,000 years are threatening to blow? These two inactive volcanoes are on the edge of the North Andes Palette at a time when the S American Plate and the Caribbean Plate are on an unstoppable roll. It is destiny!

Secession

Secession is on many lips these days. The concept of secession is not new. In recent times Scotland tried unsuccessfully to break away from the UK and the Crimea and eastern part of the Ukraine did successfully separate from Kiev. Europe has several active secessionist movements at the present time. And the breakup of the Soviet Union at the end of the Cold War shows how easily a large country can shatter into pieces. The Sudan in Africa recently deal with secession, as did India where they have 400 different casts creating divisiveness and several different religions wrangling for supremacy.

The Union of Soviet Socialist Republics ceased to exist on December 26, 1991 by declaration no. 142-H of the Soviet of the Republics of the Supreme Soviet of the Soviet Union, acknowledging the independence of the twelve remaining republics of the Soviet Union, and creating the Commonwealth of Independent States.

Secessionism is on the rise all across Europe. According to rough estimates, there are 100 groups in 29 countries that are seeking greater autonomy from the central government or self-determination from their motherland.

Bharat and India: Armed Rebellion and Mental Secession

October 16, 2009

<http://vinodksharma.blogspot.com/2009/10/bharat-and-india-armed-rebellion>

The Maoists, as the Naxalites are popularly called, are engaged in an armed struggle against the present Indian state because they believe that it has failed to empower millions of Indians who continue to suffer unbearable poverty and exploitation.

The Civil War in the US was over a secession issue, the Southern states wanting to break away from the Union, which some think should have been allowed. The map showing the desire to secede today is not much different from the map during the Civil War in 1865. Per recent surveys the United States is ripe for division.

Liberal Democratic Donor Wants Southern States Kicked out of the United States

There was also an implicit assumption that the new southern nation would not have civil rights, perhaps even bringing back slavery. Part of the Saperstein project involves allowing African Americans time to flee the new southern nation to the presumably more progressive north, now to be entirely made up of blue, liberal states. Nothing was mentioned about Hispanics and other minorities who would presumably also face oppression in the new southern nation.

Residents In More Than 30 States File Secession Petitions

Petitions to strip citizenship of individuals signing onto petitions to secede and exile them have also been submitted. A threshold of 25,000 signatures must be met within 30 days for petitions to be reviewed.

Exclusive: Angry with Washington, 1 in 4 Americans Open to Secession
September 19, 2014

<http://www.reuters.com/article/2014/09/19/us-usa-secession-exclusive>

The urge to sever ties with Washington cuts across party lines and regions, though Republicans and residents of rural Western states are generally warmer to the idea than Democrats and Northeasterners. Long-running Washington gridlock had prompted them to wonder if their states would be better off striking out on their own, a move no U.S. state has tried in the 150 years since the bloody Civil War that led to the end of slavery in the South. Republicans were more inclined to support the idea, with 29.7 percent favoring it compared with 21 percent of Democrats. By region, the idea was least popular in New England, the cradle of the Revolutionary War, with just 17.4 percent of respondents open to pulling their state out. It was most popular in the Southwest, where 34.1 percent of respondents back the idea.

Per the Zetas, after the Pole Shift and well before in regions where there is turmoil, we are likely to see government not at the federal level, not at the state or province level, but at the local level. This will not be from secession, but caused by the disasters of the Pole Shift.

ZetaTalk Prediction 7/15/1995: Consider what constitutes the government of the United States, which we will use as an example, as it is indeed the strongest government, and the first and foremost democracy. This government, by and for the people, is founded by elections. How would all this take place in a world having undergone a cataclysm such as we describe? The concept of legislature even at the county level would be difficult to maintain, much less at the state or federal level. How can the polls be sure who is to vote when the survivors will wander, in search more of others living than anything else. We are not describing a world where the established government is likely to continue as it was. We are describing a world where new forms of governing will emerge. Consideration will be the rule, rather than the rule of law. For those groups oriented increasingly to Service-to-Self, no laws or corps of police would hold the self-serving actions in check. There, the rule of law is supplanted by the rule of the strong.

How will the governments take being so supplanted? Will they attempt to collect taxes, order cooperation, or demand allegiance? Some lone individuals will attempt to do so, perhaps in small bands, but where there is no food, and the citizenry is essentially homeless, these attempts will turn about on the so-called representatives of the people. Where is the government assistance? What does the government anticipate doing for its citizenry? Why, when the government was assuring the populace that they should not be alarmed by the approaching comet, should the populace now give any heed to the so called government? Any attempt to continue federal or state level government will in all likelihood be short lived. On the local level, there may be some continuance, according to the competence of the local government. Leadership will have to be earned.

Per the Zetas, leadership will have to be earned, so that elected officials may not end up being the leaders. Per Ron Paul, this concept is to some degree inevitable. Has he been reading ZetaTalk?

Ron Paul Says Secession in US Inevitable
September 30, 2014

<http://www.examiner.com/article/ron-paul-says-secession-us-inevitable>

Dr. Paul wrote an essay on the subject on the website of his organization, the Ron Paul Institute for Peace and Prosperity, in which he applauded secessionist movements due to the fact that they allow for the possibility of smaller government. Supporters of freedom, he wrote, should applaud the growth of secessionist movements because they promote smaller government and greater individual freedom.

ZetaTalk Prediction 10/19/2002: The Aftertime will find most of mankind in a dearth of government directives. Even small towns, governed by mayors well known on the city streets to all, and traveling bands governed by chieftains, will feel the lack. Insanity, depression, loss of life and confusion will remove the firm hand so familiar from governing. Families will look to their elders, the family man, the religious leader, and find them all staring, shaking their heads, and unable to speak. In these situations, leadership arises from the needy, natural leaders emerging. Often they are children, to whom most of life is startling and strange, the unfamiliar presented almost daily. To the child, this is more an adventure, an opportunity to act without constant parental admonitions. They will make suggestions, and be allowed to proceed, and often lead their dazed and depressed parents and elders about like rag dolls.

Beyond the children, who will be inventive and energetic in the main, women will assume command by doing daily chores. It is often said that men, who have single tasks in society, suffer when retiring, but women, who had the many tasks keeping the household going, are without retirement. Thus, women see what to do with their time, and proceed, and being useful live longer and in greater health. In like manner, after the shift, women will wash and clean, gather and cook a meal, and thus be looked upon as someone who can direct activities. When the depression clears, and survivors begin looking about them, determining if they should seek out a government rep or make a report, perhaps seek help from their government, a different conclusion will arise. Each initiating, others observing and offering to help, and sharing, has taken place. This is the Service-to-Other society of your future, and once established by survivor groups, should not be supplanted by ego driven directive by the power hungry. Tell them to sit back down and fall silent, as you did so much better before they found their tongue.
