

No-eyes communication realizations

Stuck Awareness. (Death of way things are and Birth need to change pangs)

As a result of earth changes ones spirit can be stuck in wanting what is lost This be stuck in death pangs or pain/emotion hung attention due to loss of what one had. Some will not move forward from that spot. The resistance to change will eventually cause there death and make it very uncomfortable and non-winning until that happens

Those that move into and through the birth of a new civilization pangs will be the most aware and contributive Some will get stuck in the birth pangs and not make the changes needed Resistance will cause them pain and death

The only way is the way though what comes. There be obvious next best most ethical actions as long as one stays in present time and not get stuck in past

Stuff not important

In the end material things will not save you The only way is Spirit way Material things or scroungable solutions (sets) to make life easier may help the transition for some but not be end answer Only lasting thing is each's spiritual awareness and capability of communication with environment including the surrounding beings

Phoenix represents the rebirth of spiritual ways on earth
